

Experiments in quantum computing and optimization

In this thesis we would like to make a few experiments on available quantum computers. We might wish to get a try to qiskit, an open source SDK for working with quantum computers. The objective will be that of implementing and experimenting with optimization algorithm on these new architectures